A student had a friend to stay in college without signing the guest in. Students are reminded that they are required to sign in guests when staying overnight in college. This is an important health and safety issue. The guest had also parked their car in the college during their stay. Students are reminded that parking is only permitted in exceptional circumstances. Overall it had been a good term.

The highlight of the term had been a visit from the Aston Mansfield Charity. It was hoped to re-establish links with the charity and the JCR are looking for volunteers to visit East London at the beginning of the Trinity Term, to get to know the area and help the project. It had been a good term with improvements in fresher integration and communication between students and between students and academic staff.
