About Mansfield College

Mansfield College is one of the 39 constituent colleges of the University of Oxford. It has around 250 undergraduates, 170 graduates and 30 visiting students. This relatively small size engenders friendly and close relationships not only among students and tutors, but across the whole community at the College. Mansfield is one of Oxford University's most open and forward-thinking Colleges. Proud of its non-conformist history – the College was founded to provide theological training for 'dissenting' ministers of the church – today the College is model for access to higher education, and exemplifies how social and intellectual diversity enriches an academic community.

We think that Mansfield is everything an Oxford college should be in the twenty-first century: historic, beautiful, centrally located in the city, and a leading light on widening access to Oxford University. After two decades of pioneering outreach work, the College today has the highest intake of undergraduates from state-funded schools in the UK; from disadvantaged backgrounds; and one of the most diverse communities of all the Oxford colleges in terms of the social, educational and ethnic backgrounds of its students. At the same time as remaining true to its founding principles of freedom of conscience and educational access, the College is rightly proud of its strong academic results (top 5 of all the Oxford colleges in 2018/19).

The College is also home to the Bonavero Institute of Human Rights, within Oxford University's Law Faculty, which was opened by the late Secretary-General of the United Nations, Kofi Annan, in 2018.

The Institute is a perfect reflection of the spirit of the College: plural, broad-minded, and respectful of the dignity and worth of all.

Mansfield's Principal, Helen Mountfield KC, is an internationally renowned human rights law specialist. As one of the UK's leading equality law specialists, she has argued cases in the Supreme Court and European Court of Human Rights.

In 2021, Mansfield was recognised as a university College of Sanctuary by the UK charity City of Sanctuary, after demonstrating an ongoing commitment to nurturing a culture of inclusivity and awareness on campus for those seeking sanctuary (which includes refugees and asylum seekers), as well as in the wider community.
